

The Way Ahead

This is the fifth year the Auckland Water Industry Annual Performance Review has been published. Eleven water service providers in the greater Auckland region have collaborated to produce this report. The objective this year was once again to keep publication changes to a minimum and place the main focus on improving comparability of measures across organisations, by incorporating changes to measures, definitions or recording systems that would contribute to this.

In the future it is anticipated that industry wide reporting will be progressed by the New Zealand Water and Wastes Association with Auckland organisations participating in this process. In a first step toward this, NZWWA was provided with all material involved in the Auckland data collection process and was briefed directly on the structure, processes and measures involved that would have implications or require adaption for other areas. NZWWA is now working with organisations outside the Auckland region to develop the best means of trialling and introducing an industry performance review. The Auckland water industry supports and looks forward to this development.
