Robinson, Dove-Myer, Sir, 1901-1989

Papers

HISTORY OF THE ARCHIVES

When Sir Dove-Myer Robinson sold his house in Remuera in 1987 prior to his move to a retirement village, he contacted the Auckland City Council Records and Archives Manager and signed an agreement allowing his papers to be deposited in the Auckland Public Library.

Most of the papers were in folders stored in very large cartons, many in the garage or a shed outside the main house. The folders themselves were not in a particularly consistent order. The papers were in general in quite good condition, free from damp, while only a very few insects were noticed in the initial move. Only a few days were available to move the papers from the house.

In 1988, due to pressure on the Library's storage space, the papers were moved to National Archives. The opportunity was taken while the papers were being moved to fumigate them. In November 1988, an arrangement and description programme commenced on the papers. Blocks of numbers were allocated to the different areas of involvement/ interest of Sir Dove-Myer.

Within those blocks, series of records were listed -- if there was evidence of previous organisation this was maintained -- where no evidence of previous order was found, papers were arranged -- with other items on the same subject or with those like in character.

Rusty pins and papers were removed; papers were dusted clean and placed in acid-free folders which were in turn placed in waxed boxes.

The papers were appraised as they were arranged and described. Virtually all original correspondence was retained, but duplicate material, and papers of in particular the Auckland Regional Authority and the Auckland City Council not concerned with subjects of known interest to Sir Dove-Myer Robinson were destroyed. Overseas printed material on topics of known interest were retained, but a considerable volume of books were accepted by the School Library Service. A number of tapes, and a small volume of photographic prints and papers that were so badly damaged as to be unusable were destroyed. Some items of memorabilia were retained by Auckland City Council.

In dealing with each item, papers were kept in the order which they were found within an item. If an item was too large to fit in a folder, it was split between the appropriate number of folders. The fact that this split had been made is indicated by the item code given to the item,

Every item has code number e.g. 104.22. a split item would have numbers like 104.22 (a), 104.22 (b), 104.22 (c). The splits were done exactly as the item was found which means descending dates for some listings.

e.g.	104.22 (a)	1952-58
	104.22 (b)	1949-52
	104.22 (c).	1948-49

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE:

Sir Dove-Myer Robinson was born in Sheffield on 15 June 1901. His wide-ranging interests have seen him involved in an official capacity in a wide range of organisations,

He was initially involved in the motorcycle business (Robinson Motorcycles Limited) and was several times winner of the New Zealand Motorcycle Sidecar championships, and holder of motorcycle economy and speed records.

In 1942 he became managing director and chairman of Childswear Limited. When the company was sold to Ross and Glendining in 1959, he retired and decided to stand for public office. He had been a City Council member on Auckland City Council since 1952 – also the Auckland Education Board and Auckland University Council.

Dove-Myer Robinson's first involvement with the public domain came over the issue of the Browns Island sewerage scheme. As president of the Auckland and Suburban Drainage League, he waged a long and ultimately successful campaign to ensure that the Browns Island scheme was replaced with a more suitable alternative.

He first became Mayor of Auckland in 1959 and served until 1965 when he lost the election to Dr R G McElroy. He was re-elected in 1968 and was Mayor continuously until 1980 when he was again defeated at the polls.

He ran for re-election in 1983 but was once again defeated.

His other posts in a public capacity include:

Chairman, Auckland Regional Authority Establishment Committee	1960-63
Chairman, Auckland Regional Authority	1963-65
Chairman, Auckland Metropolitan Drainage Board	1953-55
Chairman, Auckland Metropolitan Council	1959-65, 1968-
Chairman, Auckland International Airport Committee	1959-61
Chairman, Auckland Metropolitan Road Safety Committee	1959-65
Member, Auckland City Council	1952-59
Member, Auckland Education Board	1952-54

His other interests were nutrition, diet, soil fertility, sewerage purification, health, environmental protection, transportation, fluoridation. He was also an opponent of the Aotea Centre building project.

He was knighted in 1970. Sir Dove Myer was married three times and had six children:

Wife's name	Child's name

PERSONAL CORRESPONDENCE

Series 100-109

This block of series consists of papers retained by Sir Dove-Myer as “Personal” rather than in any of his official capacities.

Series 100, 101, 102, 104, 108 have been maintained in the order in which they were found. These appear to be correspondence systems established by Sir Dove-Myer himself. They cover the periods 1930-65; 1980s.

Series 100 and 101 are arranged alphabetically by subject or surname of writer. Papers were removed from their file covers and placed in acid free folders. If a file had too many papers to fit in the folder, files were split into a number of folders. This is indicated by the item number. Folders for a split item look like 100.12 (a), 100.12 (b).

If the item was transferred intact, the item number does not have a letter following it.

Series 102 contains papers which were arranged in miscellaneous folders by the letter of name of the firm or writer or subject. Series 105 consists of unfiled personal correspondence for the period 1939-87. Series 103, 106 and 107 are artificial series for correspondence relating to a particular area of Sir Dove-Myer’s personal life – family and friends, knighthood, trust account.

Series 200-210

Dove Myer Robinson was a member and later president of the Auckland Suburban Drainage League – a pressure group who tirelessly campaigned for a suitable sewerage disposal scheme for the Auckland area. The Browns Island Scheme was opposed by the League and pursued to the point of a Royal Commission from 1937 through until 1947. The League (largely influenced by Sir Dove Myer) continued to campaign about the drainage question after the Browns Island Scheme was withdrawn and was involved in the campaign for an effective drainage board. The League had to adopt fundraising methods to maintain its campaign and was ultimately reimbursed in part by the Government.

This block of series (200-210) contains minutes and correspondence of the League, submissions to Parliament and Commissions of Enquiry, material published by the League, research material, lists of members, advertisements and circulars relating to the case for the refund of legal expenses in fighting the Browns Island Scheme.

Series 280-288

Sir Dove Myer strongly opposed the introduction of fluoridation from the 1950s. this block of series consists of the correspondence, petitions, reports articles and speeches he has gathered between 1950 and 1980 in his fight against fluoridation.

All papers were maintained in their original order. Where no order was visible, an artificial arrangement was imposed.

Series 300-318

This is an artificial block of series created to make the newspaper clippings gathered by Sir Dove Myer more accessible to the researcher.

Only those clippings which formed part of other existing series were maintained in those series.

Sir Dove Myer maintained several series of scrapbook but also clipped loose clippings on a variety of subjects.

Series 330-335

This is a group of artificial series relating to Sir Dove Myer's lifelong interest in aspects of nutrition and health.

Series 340-348

This is an artificial group of series created to document material gathered by Sir Dove Myer with his interest in town planning and urban renewal alternatives for Auckland.

Sir Dove Myer travelled extensively overseas and Series 347 contains information he collected in his travels relating to town planning and urban renewal.

As Sir Dove Myer had a great personal interest in town planning and urban renewal issues and the papers covered a number of organisations of which he had been a member but in themselves had no order, they were placed in this artificial block of series where it was felt that they would be more accessible to researchers.
